Television Broadcast Schedule Confirmed for CONCACAF Champions League Finals

MIAMI (Thursday, April 10, 2014) – The Confederation of North, Central America and Caribbean Association Football (CONCACAF) released today the broadcast schedule for the 2013-14 CONCACAF Champions League Finals, which kick off next Tuesday, April 15.

This year's Finals will be steeped in tradition, as historic Mexican clubs Cruz Azul and Toluca – currently the top two teams in the Liga MX standings – battle for the right to raise the CONCACAF Champions League trophy and represent the Confederation at the FIFA Club World Cup Morocco 2014.

In the opening leg, Toluca visits the Estadio Azul on Tuesday, April 15 at 8:00 PM EST (7:00 PM local), before Cruz Azul returns the visit to the Estadio Nemesio Diez eight days later. The Grand Final in Toluca on Wednesday, April 23 will also kick off at 8:00 PM EST (7:00 PM local).

In Mexico, as well as parts of Central America and the Caribbean, the matches will be shown live on Fox Sports. Fans in the United States will be able to enjoy both Finals games on Univision Networks, with live broadcasts direct from the stadiums. For English language coverage in the U.S., the two matches will be shown on Fox Sports 2.

Fans will additionally have access to radio broadcasts on the ESPN Deportes Radio network, which is set to broadcast live from Mexico to all the countries reached by the network Confederation-wide. The games will also be shown in Canada on SportsNet World.
